All-Rounders

Blousons and jeans are true classics, and can be combined with other separates in a wide variety of ways. Jazzed-up with a few fashionable touches, these all-rounders are bang on trend.

7125 Blouson

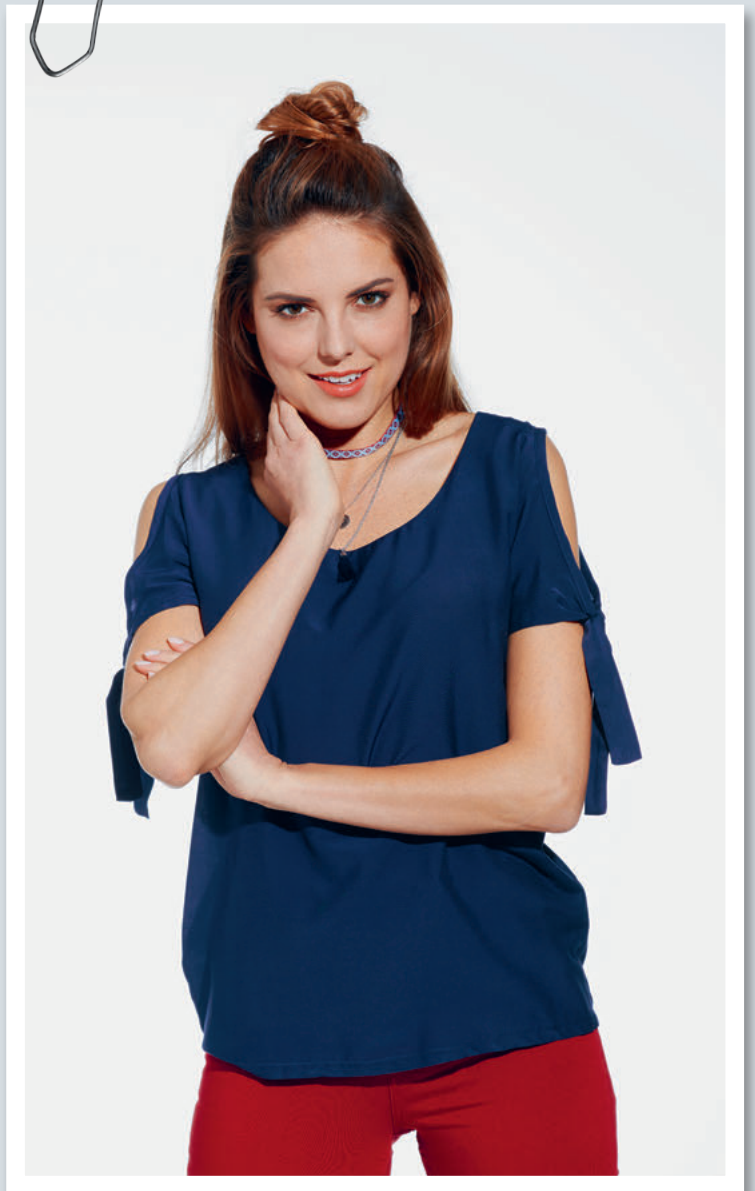

Large rectangular poppers and zips on the sleeve lend a sporty touch to the slightly shiny fabric. The box pleat in the back makes this collarless blouson particularly comfortable.

7126 Jeans

Summer or winter, everybody loves flowers. The ones here are in a modern 70s style. The colourful embroidery turns these slightly shortened white jeans with fringed hem into this season's trendy must-have.

Absolute Essentials!

Shirt blouses are the more chic alternative to shirts, and much more feminine to boot. Whether sporting flounces or ties, or assymetric in shape, this fashion essential has something for every taste.

7110 Shirt blouse with flounces

The “ruffle” trend is far from played out, hence these airy flounce sleeves on our shirt blouse. A real all-rounder, this shirt is not only suitable for everyday wear, but makes a chic companion for an evening out.

7111 Asymmetric shirt blouse

This style comes with various options. Our casual shirt has just one sleeve, and looks particularly hip when worn pulled diagonally over the shoulder. In addition, you have the option of sewing the shirt with two sleeves, or in a sleeveless variant, depending on what line you follow on the pattern.

7112 Shirt blouse with cut-outs

Cut-outs are this summer’s fashion trend, moving away from the cleavage to highlight the waist, back or shoulders. Here, the rule is that the simpler the rest of the style, and in particular, the more understated the colour, the greater the impact. This is one trend you won’t want to give the cold shoulder!

CHILDREN

Little Mermaid

What began with Ariel has continued to inspire new generations of girls. Shiny fabrics in metallic colours that seem to spring from the ocean enchant young girls' hearts this summer with the wildly popular mermaid trend.

7130 Blouse

Just like Mum: little girls also find this simple blouse with its cute little sleeves trendy. The jolly little buttons instantly give it even greater appeal.

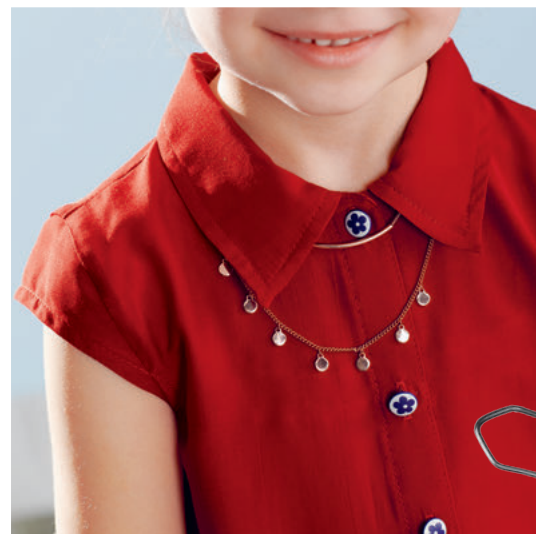

7131 Culottes

Even the young ones have picked up on the "culottes" trend. On hot summer days, these shorts/skirt hybrids fit the bill perfectly. The in-seam pockets offer space for collecting shells, and the sewn-on elastic waistband makes the culottes a quick project.

7132 Shell handbag

This glitzy shell bag will set the pulses of all little mermaids racing! Batting gives the shell appliqué volume and suppleness. The faux leather is a breeze to sew with the presser feet with non-stick soles.

Bathing Beauties Ahoy!

Looking at the picture, you can almost hear the gentle murmur of the sea. Restful colours ensure sheer relaxation.

7140 "Ahoy" picture

Anchor, lighthouse and the little bathing beauty lend a maritime flair to the décor, immediately conjuring up a holiday mood. Those without an embroidery machine could also appliqué individual elements in the conventional manner and place the writing in between, e.g. with textile markers.

7141 Placemats

Natural raffia is ideal for making into placemats. Simply free-motion-embroider over the raffia with the BERNINA Stitch Regulator to transform each placemat into an interesting one-off.

7142 Beach towel

Totally hip-and-happening for some time now on holiday coasts around the world, the round beach towel is now stealing the limelight at local lakesides and swimming pools. It's also multi-functional, with the cord letting you convert the "lifebuoy-look" towel into a beach bag or backpack.

7143 Anchor

Whether used as a tag or lucky charm, this cleverly embroidered anchor is always an eye-catcher. The little boat was digitised in the machine with the Embroidery Designer and sewn onto the fabric in rows as a sideways-motion decorative stitch.

Tip: You'll also find a 40-cm-high version of the anchor on the pattern sheet, which you can use to sew an attractive pillow.

Your Favourite Spot

A great place to hang out, an attractively furnished sewing space allows you to indulge your favourite pastime.

7145 Sewing-machine cover

When you're not able to use your BERNINA, protect it from dust under this decorative cover, which serves as a constant reminder that it's high time to throw yourself back into your hobby with a vengeance!

7146 Pin cushion

Matching the sewing-machine cover with its pineapple print, this plump little pineapple keeps all your pins together and safe, whilst showcasing them to perfection.

7147 Boxes

Straight out of Granny's kitchen, these boxes with the old-fashioned "pouring handles" are practical for storing anything that would otherwise clutter up the table, such as thread, spools, zips, buttons, or ribbons and trim.

The Style-Vil interfacing lends sturdiness to the simple boxes. Another handy feature: placed between two shelves, the boxes become little drawers!
