Change Settings

Density

You can change the density settings from 'Auto Density' to 'Manual Density'. If you are not experienced in embroidery, we recommend you to stay with 'Auto Density'. If you change the setting to Manual Density, you can edit the density of the stitches (spacing between the stitches).

Underlay Stitches

The function of the Underlay stitches is to connect the fabric with the backing, stabilize the base for the embroidery, cover the surface of the embroidery or create a 3D appearance of the embroidery.

There are different profiles available from which you can choose from; They adapt automatically to the width and stitch direction of the letter to make sure that you get an excellent result. In Toolbox, the underlay settings affect only lettering, not the designs.

Default Auto Underlay

Works fine in general. We recommend activating this setting for common projects.

Broadcloth

This setting is ideal for sturdy fabric such as canvas or polyester material for bags and small lettering. There will be less stitches so your lettering will be finished faster.

T-Shirt

Activate this setting when you embroider on thin stretchable fabric or Lettering in medium size.

Towel

Activate this setting when you work with fabric featuring a long-pile texture such as toweling or fleece. It will create more underlay stitches so that the long fibers are not visible through the embroidered area or big letters.

Pull/Stretch Compensation

An embroidery is always pulled or stretched in the direction of the stitching, since the stitches need to lay down nicely on the material. Due to the Pull Compensation, you can compensate for this stretching or even use it to make your lettering wider. The default setting should work in most cases. The Pull Compensation affects lettering, but does not affect designs.

Tie in and out Stitches

The function 'Tie in and out stitches' is needed in every embroidery to make sure that the thread tail is not pulled out as the machine begins to stitch. It also will secure the stitches when the threads are trimmed. In addition, this function makes sure that the thread can't be pulled out when your embroidery motif is finished. You can choose between „Tie Every Element“ which means that you can cut the thread manually after every element or „Tie every Trim“.

Trim Distance

Click here to adjust the trim distance after which Toolbox has to perform a trim. If you have it set at a longer distance (higher number), you will see a connection stitch between letters or objects. You can avoid these connection stitches by decreasing the trim distance.

Lettering Fill Patterns

Lettering Fill Patterns

Here you can choose different fill patterns for your lettering. Test stitch the design to make sure you get a good quality embroidery. The setting only applies at a stitch length of 5 mm (0.20 in).
